Partner Liaison: Francine Joselowsky, Senior Program Associate

The Forum for Youth Investment (The Forum) was created to increase the quality and quantity of youth investment and youth involvement by promoting a “big picture” approach to planning, research, advocacy and policy development among the broad range of organizations that help constituents and communities invest in children, youth and families. The Forum believes that the information, tools and insights generated at the national level must be shaped by and useful to local communities and practitioners.
